

ACADEMIC Sponsor

The "Academic Sponsor" package offers a unique opportunity for academic and research institutions seeking to enhance their scientific and community presence and contribute to knowledge exchange within a prestigious international scientific event. This package provides ample space for academies, universities, and research centers to showcase their leading role in energy, environmental, and climate issues, along with genuine opportunities to network with public and private sector institutions.

Benefits and Services of the Academic Sponsor: First: Promotion and Media Prominence

Inclusion of the academic institution's logo on all conference promotional materials (posters, brochures, banners).

Inclusion of the sponsor's name in official press and media materials.

Promotion of the institution through the conference's electronic platforms (official website, social media platforms, digital advertisements).

Screening of a short introductory film about the academic institution during the opening session.

Second: Scientific Participation

Addition of scientific and preparatory committees to assist in organizing the event with the main conference committees.

Assistance in publicizing the event and corresponding with universities and research centers to invite them to participate with scientific papers.

Inclusion of the academic institution's journal as one of the main journals for publishing scientific papers.

Priority in submission. Two research papers by researchers or faculty members affiliated with the institution.

Organization of a scientific workshop or discussion session under the supervision of the department or body affiliated with the institution.

The possibility of the institution's president, researcher, or academic delivering a speech on behalf of the institution during the opening session or one of the main sessions.

Third: Space in the accompanying exhibition: Allocating a dedicated booth for the academic institution within the scientific exhibition accompanying the conference (with a prominent space). Fully equipping the booth (displays, screen, tables and chairs, banners). Providing a technical support team to assist the booth during the exhibition. Fourth: Official recognition and honors: A commemorative shield in the institution's name will be presented during the opening session.

A certificate of thanks and appreciation addressed to the institution's president.

Documenting the institution's name in the conference's final report under the list of academic supporters.

Fifth: Attendance and seating: Granting (6) official invitations to senior figures from the institution to attend the opening session and participate in the conference and exhibition events.

Reserving two seats in the front rows for the institution's delegation.
